

Administrative Details

UVic SEng 265, Fall 2002

Daniel M. German

Department of Computer Science

University of Victoria

Administrative Details

- ❖ Attendance of lectures is not mandatory
 - ❖ but don't ask questions about lectures you missed
- ❖ Course accounts: <http://www.csc.uvic.ca/~labspg/index.html>
- ❖ Web page: <http://view.cs.uvic.ca/seng265>
 - ❖ News, Lectures, Bulletin Board, Homeworks, etc.
- ❖ Lab sections:
 - ❖ Begin second week of classes
 - ❖ Tutorials + hands on experience
 - ❖ Attendance of labs is mandatory
 - ❖ Absences must be excused (e.g. physician's note)

Unix

- ❖ We will use Unix for all your assignments
- ❖ Every one of you have a Unix account
- ❖ Visit the consultants office if you don't have an account yet
- ❖ The main machine to use is aserver.seng.engr.uvic.ca

Assignments

- ❖ You are going to work in teams of 2 people (randomly chosen)
- ❖ No extensions allowed (except for extreme circumstances)
- ❖ Assignments will be time consuming for some of you

Administrative Details...

❖ Textbooks:

❖ Required:

Seng 265 Course Pack

❖ Recommended:

Any book on C/C++

Any book on Perl

Any book on Unix

Collaboration

- ❖ Except where explicitly indicated, no collaboration allowed
- ❖ If caught, the penalties will be harsh!
- ❖ Empty-Hands Approach: I will let you work with others as long as you follow these rules:
 - ❖ You can meet with anybody else and discuss assignments
 - ❖ You must destroy all notes (or data) created during the discussions before leaving the room
 - ❖ Ergo, you leave the room where the discussions take place without any notes (or electronic files, of course) related to the assignment

Grading

❖ Breakdown:

- ❖ Assignments: (25%, 5 different ones, 5% each)
- ❖ Labs: 5%
- ❖ Midterm exam: 20%
- ❖ Final: 50%

❖ You must pass both exams to pass the course

❖ Policies

- ❖ Please review the Course Policies:

<http://www.csc.uvic.ca/courses/policies/index.html>